

yes i just read that the fcc might let the telemarket people start calling everyone again i live in new jersey and i am disabled and i have 3 children and i can give you lots of reasons not to let them call people unless given permission!!! i take care of 3 children and im sick a lot and i need to keep my ringer on cause my children are in school in case of emergency but!!! i do not need to be woken up every 10 minutes with annoying people trying to sell me stuff!!! lots of people like myself work the 3 rd shift and lots of us sleep in the daytime sometimes its very annoying and just causes more stress in our lifes than people need if someone wanted to buy something im sure they can willing give there number to the seller instead of intruding pests!!! this is my opinion if someone wants something im sure they can get it on there own right? its very annoying!!! thank you daniel marinella
